CAMPGROUND OF THE ROCKIES ASSOCIATION (CORA) STRUCTURE/CONSTRUCTION POLICY AND APPROVAL REQUEST FORM

Campground of the Rockies is the sole authorization needed for a shed, deck, retention wall, snow shed, fencing, Park Model placement & fireplace/firepit. No other type of structure is allowed at CORA. CORA and Park County require a County Permit for roof replacement. Prior to beginning any construction project, every lot owner must submit this form and a drawing of the project to the CORA office. These include, but are not limited to intent to construct, erect, reconstruct, enlarge, extend, or move a structure, or to significantly change the landscaping or drainage of any lot. The lot owner shall attach a copy of the Park County permit; if applicable, along with a copy of the project site plan(s) to this Construction Approval Request Form and submit to the CORA Caretakers for review and approval or rejection. Decks, retention walls, sheds, snow shed, fencing, Park Model placement Landscaping/drainage & fireplace/firepit require approval from the CORA Caretakers.

The lot owner agrees to follow the guidelines/requirements as set forth below: No permanent foundations, structures must be moveable. All Independent Lots – DSP, RGS, CS have a 20ft utility easement down the center of all lots. Dependent Lots may have a Utility easement along front and/or side of property line. Must adhere to Park County Land Use Regulations. Park County will not issue permits that are in violation of Land Use Regulations.

Please Note: CORA Policy 2006-001 Removal of Recreational vehicles, if any utility (water, sewer, electrical) problems occur on privately owned properties with use of the easements stated in the covenants 5.1 and 5.2. Any movement of any owner's unit will be the responsibility of the owner within a 24-hour period of notification of a problem. Failure to remove such unit in the 24-hour period will constitute in the Board of Directors and/or Management seeking professional movers to remove said unit, which will include decks, sheds, or any other structure. This removal by a professional will be paid by the owner of the lot, not CORA. The Recreational Vehicle/Structure will be moved by professionals to avoid any liability to CORA.
